AUGUST 15, 1766. THE Nº 795.

VIRGINIA GAZETTE.

With the lateſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtick.

From the LONDON CHRONICLE, of April 19th, 1766.

A copy of a letter to the Right Reverend Thomas Lord Biſhop of Kildare, from Thomas Butler, Eſq; of Warminſter, in Wilts, concerning a REMEDY for the STONE and GRAVEL.

THE benefit I received from the Daucus, or Wild Carrot, has been ſo great that I thought it my duty to mankind to advertiſe its virtues; and the relief I received from it, in the Saliſbury journal, about three years ago, which was crowned with ſuch high ſatisfacton that I received intelligence that it had done great cures on ſeveral people, who took it purely on the recommendation of my advertiſement.

"I had laboured under that painful diſorder the Stone in the Kidney at leaſt forty ſix years, when about four years ſince, or ſomething more, it became ſo painful that I was under an abſolute neceſſity of quitting my annual journies into Hants, and ſeek for eaſe by any means I could find it, but all in vain; it grew upon me ſo that I could not ſit at table to eat my meat, but in the greateſt pain; and finding, by experience, I could have no more eaſe in a recumbent poſture, I was obliged to lie down wherever I came, either at home or abroad, and in that poſture I converſed with my friends, and in that poſition eat my dinner daily; and, in ſhort, I was ſtill followed by ſuch continual pain that I expected I had but a ſhort time to live.

"I had applied to Phyſicians, Apothecaries, Quacks, and Old Women; and, conformable to directions, I made uſe of Mr. Stephens's medicine, and, nauſeous as it was, I took about fourſcore draughts of it, together with a full doſe of the ill taſted powder that is a part of the recipe, but all in vain; I could find no relief. In this miſerable condition I recollected I had an herbal, in which were preſcribed remedies for many diſorders; I providentially looked into it, and found the Wild Carrot ſtrongly recommended by Mr. Boyle. I immediately (it being the 1ſt or 2d of Auguſt) ſent a perſon into the fields to get me the Wild Carrot, which was accordingly done; I made it into a tea, ſweetening it with Liſbon ſugar, and drank about two ordinary tea pots full in a day, each pot containing a full half pint, the one for breakfaſt, the other for ſupper, eating with it as with other tea, and in three days time the pain began to grow weak and die away, and in five days it quite left me, my ſpirits revived, and I was reſtored (I bleſs God) to perfect eaſe.

"I continued drinking this tea until the 17th of December following, and then idly neglected it; the diſorder returned; I had a ſhort fit, which held me ſix hours. I had again recourſe to my Wild Carrot, and in a few days got the better of it, ſince which I have enjoyed great eaſe. I cannot ſay that I never felt pain in the kidneys, but this I can aver for truth that it is never enough to make me cry oh! and that I think I never enjoyed better health than I have done for theſe four laſt years. This is the time of the year (Auguſt) when I got it. I will only ſay (though I know not how to have done with this ſubject, where almoſt a miracle has been wrought in my favour) that it is to be gathered in Auguſt, and dried well in ſome room in the ſhade, and then put aſide in a cloſe bin for uſe. You are only to uſe the heads or ſeeds of it. I take ſix or ſeven heads, and put them into the tea pot, and then put boiling water upon them; and, after it has ſtood as other common tea, drink it, generally dividing it into two draughts. I forbear all ſorts of ſalt meats (at leaſt ought to do ſo) and ſtrong beer I rigidly refrain from; I drink about two or three glaſſes of wine after dinner, and as much good table beer as I have an inclination to; I never drink any thing in a morning before or after tea; I drink nothing after tea in an evening. It is ſomething forcing, but not violently, ſo it does not hurt in any kind. You will ſay, perhaps, I am prejudiced in its favour; but of this I am confident that I have enjoyed more eaſe theſe laſt four years than I ever did from the age of fourteen, and I find myſelf in better health to that time. I have not made any bloody, or coffee ground water, no not once ſince I took the Carrot Tea; notwithſtanding I made ſuch, at times, for more than twenty years before. I am, &c.

THOMAS BUTLER."

A letter from the Reverend the Dean of Kildare.

"SIR,

"On reading Mr. Butler's letter, I, who had been much afflicted with the ſtone, betook myſelf to the drinking the Wild Carrot Tea; this was in the month of October laſt, and ſince I have drank it I have not felt any ſevere pain; I have ſometimes indeed uneaſy feelings, but they are the feelings rather of weight than of pain, and generally terminate in my parting with a great deal of looſe gravel, much more than I was formerly uſed to part with. Whether this medicine tends to the diſſolution of a ſtone, already concreted, or ſerves only to prevent a further concretion, I cannot ſay; but it is no ſmall happineſs that, whatever its manner of operation may be, I have, ever ſince I drank it, been free from any violent pain. How long I ſhall continue ſo, God only knows.

I am, &c.

Bath, December 24. PHILIP FLETCHER,"

To make DANCUS or DAUCUS ALE.

Take of the Daucus ſeeds nine ounces, raiſins of the ſun eighteen ounces; put them into a bag, and hang in a veſſel of ſix gallons of good ale; after it is worked, and when fine, after eight days drink three pints a day.

N. B. The Wild Carrot is to be had in great plenty in this and the neighbouring provinces, and may be gathered the end of July, or the beginning of Auguſt.

NAPLES, April 15.

MOUNT Veſuvius broke out on Thurſday laſt, with great violence, on the oppoſite ſide to its firſt eruption; and a new lava took its courſe towards the Torre del Anunciata, between Portici and Pompeia. This lava is really tremendous, the river of fire being now at leaſt four miles in length, and in ſome places near two miles in breadth. It has already deſtroyed three vineyards, and is continuing its courſe ſlowly, over cultivated lands, towards the village of the Anunciata. The lava, at its ſource, and for the firſt mile, is as rapid as the river Severn at the paſſage near Briſtol; but by extending itſelf cools and loſes its velocity, ſo as not to advance more than 30 feet in an hour.

April 22. The eruption of Veſuvius is more violent than ever. Several Engliſhmen are come hither poſt from Rome, to ſee this dreadful ſpectacle, and to make their obſervations thereon.

His Sicilian Majeſty has publiſhed an edict, dated the 10th of April, 1766, forbidding any of his ſubjects to leave his dominions, and ſettle elſewhere, without his leave in writing.

FRANKFORT, May 8. It has been publiſhed here, by ſound of trumpet, that the Count de Pergen, Miniſter Plenipotentiary from the Emperour to the Circles of the Upper and Lower Rhine, will receive, on the 14th of this month, the oath of fidelity which this city takes to his Imperial Majeſty; and all women, artificers, and Jews, are forbid to appear at the place where this ſolemnity is to be performed; the latter are even ordered not to ſtir out of their quarter on that day.

GENOA, April 20. We have reaſon to think that the differences which aroſe in Corſica about the exchange of priſoners have been accommodated, as ſeveral natives of this territory are arrived here who had been ſtopped by the Malcontents.

STOCKHOLM, May 3. The Body of Citizens have repreſented to the States that there is room to fear a ſcarcity of grain in the kingdom, and the Diet has referred this important matter to the conſideration of the Secret Committee.

The King has permitted 500 tuns of corn to be taken out of the Crown magazines, in order to be diſtributed to the poor in ſmall portions, and at a low price, under the direction of the Magiſtrates.

PARIS, May 2. The Hereditary Prince of Brunſwick Wolfenbuttle is ſtill at Verſailles, where the Princes of the Blood and Noblemen of the Court are attentive to procure him every kind of pleaſure. When he was preſented to the King, his Majeſty received him with more marks of diſtinction than he ever gave to any other foreign Prince.

LONDON, May 3.

Extract of a letter from Graveſend, April 21.

"We have had a great noiſe at this place lately, on account of ſome fine rams and ewes that had been attempted to be run on board a ſhip bound to New York, but which were prevented by the vigilance of the ſearchers. They were kept at an inn for more than a week, to try if they could be got on board ſome other ſhip for the ſame place, but to no purpoſe. At laſt they were taken away by a perſon, who ſaid he had orders to drive them to New Romney. It is ſtrongly believed they are intended to be run from thence. People who are judges ſuppoſe them to be as fine ſheep for wool as any in England; the rams coſt twenty guineas each, the ewes three guineas a piece. As it may be of the utmoſt conſequence to theſe kingdoms if they are ſuffered to be exported, I have taken the liberty of ſending you this advice, Your publiſhing it may probably cauſe a good lookout to be kept in the other ports, ſo as to prevent this prejudicial ſcheme from taking effect."

We hear that on the 17th of laſt month died ſuddenly, at his houſe in the country, Sir Gilbert Elliot of Minto, Bart. Lord Juſtice Clerk for Scotland; and is now ſucceeded in title and eſtate by his ſon, the Right Hon. Sir Gilbert Elliot, Treaſurer of his Majeſty's Chamber.

May 8. Yeſterday the two Slacks (Robert and James) for horſeſtealing, and William Crumpton, for perſonating a ſeaman, with intent to receive his wages, were executed at Tyburn. The Slacks confeſſed at Coventry being concerned in cutting off the dugs of a number of cows in Stepney Fields, about a year or more ſince.

On Tueſday laſt Mr. Slack, father of the two Slacks, being greatly affected at the fatal cataſtrophe of his two ſons, executed yeſterday at Tyburn, hanged himſelf at his houſe near Whitechapel court.

Letters from Vienna, of the 8th of March, bring advice that four ſoldiers belonging to the Empreſs Queen's troops had deſerted; and being afterwards taken, they were condemned to draw lots for one to be ſhot out of the four. Three of them drew, but the fourth proteſted he would not, becauſe her Imperial and Royal Majeſty had forbid, under ſevere penalties, all ſorts of games of chance; and added, that he could not give a greater token of his repentance than by his obedience to her laws. Upon this the execution was ſuſpended, and advice ſent to the Court of the whole affair; and it is aſſured that orders were ſent to pardon them all.

May 13. They write from Paris, of the 2d of this month, that a deputation of each Parliament in the kingdom would ſoon aſſemble, to conſider of a reform in the management of the finances of France.

Canada bills were negotiated at Paris the 1ſt inſtant, at 32 per cent.

Letters from Batavia, received in Holland, adviſe that the 16th of October laſt was appointed by that Government to be kept as a day of faſting and humiliation, to avert the judgment of the Almighty from that and other Dutch colonies in the Eaſt Indies, where they were apprehenſive of being ſoon viſited by the plague; a great number of perſons dying there very faſt, ſuppoſed to be owing to the ſulphureous ſtench, and thick black clouds, which have appeared ever ſince the eruption of the volcano at Neira.

We hear that the bill for raiſing 1,500,000 l. by annuities and lottery, for the ſervice of the preſent year, and the bill for prohibiting, for a limited time, the importation of foreign ſilks and velvets, except what are imported by the Eaſt India Company, have paſſed an auguſt aſſembly.

Yeſterday a Gentleman came to the New Gaol, in the Borough, and paid the fines and fees of twelve priſoners, ſome of whom had been confined for three years. The ſame Gentleman alſo diſcharged upwards of forty poor debtors from the King's Bench and Marſhalſea priſons.

They write from Madrid that the embarkation of the Spaniſh troops for Mexico has been ſet aſide, at leaſt for the preſent, on account of the diſturbances which have broke out in different parts of the kingdom.

We hear that Lady Clive has received, by the packet from Liſbon, a fine ſet of Indian curioſities, conſiſting of petrefactions of the animal, vegetable, and foſſil kinds, highly eſteemed by the virtuoſi.

May 10. The Duke of Richmond is confidently talked of to ſucceed the Duke of Grafton, as one of the Secretaries of State.

Letters from Naples aſſert that the 20th inſtant was the day appointed for the coronation of the King of the Two Sicilies, and at the ſame time the marriage between him and the Archdutcheſs Joſepha was to be made publick.

Letters from Ratiſbon, of the 15th inſtant, mention that a report prevailed there that Prince Clement of Saxony, Biſhop of Freiſingen, &c. died ſuddenly at Vienna a few days before.

The Eaſt India Company have received advice that all their outward bound ſhips are ſafe arrived at fort St. George and Madraſs, except the Ponſberry and the Clive.

On the 7th inſtant the Houſe of Commons of Ireland waited upon his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, with the following addreſs to his Majeſty:

Moſt gracious Sovereign,

"We your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal ſubjects, the Commons of Ireland, in Parliament aſſembled, beg leave to approach your throne, and with all humility to teſtify our ardent and inviolable attachment to your ſacred perſon and government; and to implore that your Majeſty will ſuffer us to preſent to you the univerſal prayers of your loyal people of Ireland, in aſſiſtance of the repreſentations and endeavours of the chief Governour of this kingdom, towards inducing your Majeſty, in your Royal beneficence, to return to your faithful ſubjects the bill tranſmitted to Great Britain, for limiting the duration of Parliament, this ſeſſion."

To which his Excellency was pleaſed to return the following anſwer:

"I will immediately lay this addreſs before his Majeſty."

The Hague gazette of the 14th inſtant informs us that it was thought the Parliament of England would not break up until advices ſhould be received from America of the effects which the repeal of the Stamp Act had wrought in that part of the world.

A letter from Calais, dated May 14th, ſays: "Monſ. Lally, who commanded at Pondicherry in the late war, was beheaded laſt Friday at Paris. The Parliament had ordered the execution between eight and nine at night; but having ſome reaſon to think he would deſtroy himſelf, the execution was performed at five. He was drawn in a cart to the place of execution, where a gag was put into his mouth, to prevent his choking himſelf with his tongue, which he attempted. His friends had obtained leave to bury him according to his rank, but the Parliament were ſo incenſed that he was obſcurely buried in a little church in Paris. He was in the 66th year of his age."

They write from Breſt that the Prince de Rohan was arrived there, in order to embark on board a man of war of the line for Martinico. His Highneſs, after examining the ſtate of all the French iſlands, was to proceed for Cayenne and Guienne ſettlements.

They write from Vienna that beſides the principality of Tetſchen, which the Empreſs Queen made Prince Albert of Saxony a preſent of before his marriage, her Imperial Majeſty had juſt given him the fine eſtates of Mannersdorff and Altenbourg, in Hungary.

Letters from Peterſburg, by the Holland mail, adviſe that preparations are making there for a journey which the Empreſs propoſes to make to Moſcow, Aſtracan, and other cities ſituated on the frontier of the empire towards Perſia.

Letters from Paris inform us that the Count de Lally was removed in the night between the 4th and 5th of this month from the Baſtile to the priſon of the Conciergerie (communicating with the Palace) where he refuſed to go to bed, and about ſeven in the morning was conducted to the Grand Chamber, which was ſurrounded on all ſides by the guards of the Parliament. As ſoon as he appeared before his judges, they ordered him to deliver up his red riband, &c. which he took off, ſeemingly in great diſcompoſure and confuſion; and being afterwards placed on the ſtool to be interrogated, he claſped his hands, and raiſed his eyes towards Heaven, ſaying, Is this the reward of forty years ſervice! He underwent an interrogation of near twelve hours, during which he was ſucceſſively confronted by the Marquis de Buſſy, and the Count d'Ache; and at nine the ſame evening was remanded to the Baſtile, under the eſcort of ſeveral companies of the Guet, and the Guards of the Parliament.

The ſame arret which condemned the Count de Lally cleared the Count d'Ache, and ſuppreſſed the memorials of the former as falſe and defamatory.

BRISTOL, May 17. A few nights ago, among the paſſengers that were going in the ſtage from Bath to London, were two ſuppoſed females, that had taken outſide places; and as they were going into their birth, it was obſerved that one of them had mens ſhoes and ſtockings on, and upon further ſearch the breeches were diſcovered alſo. This conſequently alarming the company, the perſon was taken into cuſtody, and confined that night; next day he was had before a proper magiſtrate, and upon a ſtrict examination into matters, it appeared that he was a reputable tradeſman of a neighbouring town; and having caſh and bills to a conſiderable amount, thus diſguiſed himſelf in womens apparel, to eſcape the too civil notice of the travelling collectors.

LIVERPOOL, March 14. We hear that on Thurſday evening, the 6th inſtant, a moſt ſhocking and barbarous murder was committed by William Whittle on the bodies of his wife and two ſmall children, at Farrington, near Preſton. The circumſtances related at preſent of the affair are that the deceaſed having lain in about nine days, the huſband came home, near ten at night, and obſerving the nurſe in the houſe carding of cotton, aſked her whether ſhe would not go home (as ſhe did not lie in the houſe) he being deſirous of going to bed, to which ſhe replied in the affirmative; as ſoon as the nurſe was gone he went up ſtairs to his wife, and deſired to lie down by her, which ſhe refuſed, fearing he had ſome evil deſign, and immediately jumped out of bed and ran down ſtairs in her ſhift into the lane, when he purſued her, and intreated her to return back, promiſing he would do her no harm, to which ſhe ſoon agreed; but ſhe had no ſooner entered the houſe then he knocked her down with an axe, cut of her head and right arm, and ripped up her belly, ſo that her bowels lay on the ground; he afterwards went up ſtairs, and cut off the heads of the two infants, and left them on the bed, with the youngeſt child's heart by its ſide. When he had perpetrated this horrid deed, he immediately went to the Conſtable (who lived near) and informed him that ſome perſon had been at his houſe, and murdered his wife and children; to which the Conſtable replied, I doubt you are the murderer, and aſked him how his hands and ſtockings came to be bloody? Struck with remorſe at the queſtion, he immediately confeſſed the fact, and was committed to Lancaſter gaol on Saturday laſt, to take his trial at the enſuing aſſize.

April 11. On Saturday laſt William Whittle, weaver, condemned at Lancaſter aſſizes for the murder of his wife and two children, was executed on the gallows at Lancaſter Moor, and on Monday his body was hung on a gibbet in irons at the Four Lane ends. He confeſſed the fact, but appeared to be a ſtupid, bigotted, ignorant fellow, and a Roman Catholick. Juſt before the cart drove away from under him he called out, wiſhing that his Prieſt would come; for then he had ſomething more to ſay, if the Parſon would go his way. At his condemnation the Judge aſked him how he could commit ſuch a crime? He ſaid the Prieſt told him he ſhould be damned for martying a heretick; the Judge then inquired why he had murdered two innocent children? He ſaid their mother had carried them to church, ſo they would have been damned if he had not killed them, but that now they were in purgatory, and would go to Heaven.

QUEBEC, July 3.

Saturday the 28th ult. at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, his Excellency the Hon. Major General James Murray, Eſq; Governour of this province, embarked on board the ſhip Little William, Captain John Grant, for England. He was attended at the beach by publick officers, ſeveral of the religious orders, merchants, and other inhabitants. He was attended in barges to the ſhip by Colonel Jones, who commands the 52d regiment and garriſon, Captain Morris, commanding the detachment of the 27th regiment in garriſon here, and the officers of their corps, by Col. Robertſon, Barrackmaſter General of North America, Mr. O'Brien, Lady Suſan O'Brien and other Ladies (under a ſalute from the cannon of the grand battery) who alſo attended his Excellency down the river, to near the pariſh of St Laurent, upon the iſland of Orleans, where they took leave, and left the ſhip, and his Excellency proceeded on his voyage, the wind fair, and the day fine. His Excellency has to accompany him on his voyage Francis Mackay, Eſq; and his Lady, Lieutenant Roſe of the 52d regiment, Lieutenant Abbot of the Royal Artillery, and Mr. Fotheringham.

The ſame day, at 11 o'clock at night, arrived in this city from London, on board the Commerce, Capt. Johnſon, Mr. Briand, Biſhop of Quebec, for the Roman Catholicks, who manifeſted on this occaſion all their affection for what concerns their religion. On the day following, at 5 o'clock in the morning, the bells of all their churches announced his arrival to the whole city, which gave ſuch general ſatisfaction to the Canadians that many of them were ſeen to ſhed tears through joy. It was really affecting to ſee them congratulate each other, wherever they met, and to hear them inceſſantly ſay one to another, "It is then true that we have a Biſhop; God hath taken pity of us." And to ſee them afterwards run in crowds to the pariſh church to ſee this Biſhop, whom they look upon as the ſupport of their religion, and as a pledge of the King's paternal goodneſs to them. In fact, at the ſame time that they publickly bleſs the Lord for having given them a Biſhop, they loudly proclaim their gratitude to his Majeſty for having attended to their requeſt. It is likely that this favour conferred on the Canadians by the King will effectually attach them to the Britiſh government. It is alſo very pleaſing to them to have received on this occaſion the congratulations of ſeveral perſons of note of our nation, who indeed ſeemed to partake of their joy. And we doubt not but that the Canadians, who appear to be very ſuſceptible of gratitude, will by thoſe means become more firmly united to us.

The Little William was met in her way by the Commerce, Captain Johnſon, on board which were the Hon. Thomas Mills, Eſq; appointed by his Majeſty one of the Council and Receiver General of this province, and a Major of Brigade for one of the diviſions in North America; John Gray, Eſq; Mr. Thompſon, Captain of the Port, and ſeveral other Gentlemen, who all went on board to pay their reſpects to his Excellency.

On Monday morning laſt the Civil and Military Officers, the Prieſts, and Gentlemen of the ſeveral Religious Orders, Merchants, and others, waited upon the Hon. Lieutenant Colonel Paulus Æmilius Irving, Preſident of the Council, to compliment him upon his taking the civil command.

BOSTON, July 21.

We hear that orders have been received to ſhip home the ſtamped paper and parchment which have been depoſited in Caſtle William, and that Capt. Biſhop is to take them on board the Fortune ſloop of war, which ſails ſome time this week.

Yeſterday Capt. Rogers, in the Nova Scotia packet, arrived here in twelve days from Halifax, by whom we learn that the Right Hon. Lord Colvill was to ſail from thence for England in a few days. Admiral Durell is to take that ſtation.

NEW YORK, July 24.

Extract of a letter from Penſacola, dated June 14, 1766.

"I do not find the trade of this place the leaſt mended; the Spaniards are at New Orleans, but the French Governour commands there. The river is open to Engliſh and French, but no Spaniard to come into it. Time muſt diſcover what theſe politicks mean. Money ſo ſcarce that there is not ſufficient to ſupply neceſſaries."

July 28. Friday morning laſt the Hon. Daniel Horſmanden, and Robert R. Livingſton, Eſquires, two of the Judges of the Supreme Court of this province, with ſome of his Majeſty's Council, and ſeveral Gentlemen of the Law, ſailed from hence for Poughkeepſie, in order to try ſundry people that delivered themſelves up there, on account of the late troubles in that county; and Mr. Pendergraſs, who delivered himſelf up alſo on the ſame account, and was lately brought to our gaol, is going up likewiſe to take his trial for ſome miſdemeanor laid to his charge.

WILLIAMSBURG, Auguſt 15.

THE writer of the queries having diſcovered that he committed an errour in his account of the inqueſt taken before the coroner upon Mr. Routlidge, is very glad to acknowledge it, as he willingly deceives nobody. It was found, in that inqueſt (as he learns) that Mr. Routlidge got his death, was killed, or words to the ſame effect, by a ſword in the hand of Col. Chiſwell. In the firſt relation, it was ſaid (from miſinformation) that he was found to be murdered, &c. Every man is liable to errour. Every ingenuous man will eſteem it his duty rather to confeſs than to maintain one, and the more if his miſtake may be attended with conſequences extenſively evil. If this is not the caſe with reſpect to his own miſtake, it clearly is with reſpect to that of ſome others; which ought in like manner to be confeſſed, but which is however ſtrenuouſly maintained.

Meſſ. PURDIE and DIXON,

The following paſſage, as recorded by PLUTARCH in the life of ARISTIDES, you will be pleaſed to inſert in your GAZETTE, as an appendix to the piece ſigned PHILAUTOS.

ARISTIDES, being choſen Publick Treaſurer, he ſoon made it appear that not only thoſe of his time, but the preceding officers, had applied great ſums of the publick money to their own uſe, and particularly Themiſtocles; who, though he was a very wiſe man, had no great command of his fingers. For which reaſon, when Ariſtides was to give in his accounts, Themiſtocles raiſed a ſtrong party againſt him, accuſed him of miſapplying the publick money, and procured his condemnation; but the chief and beſt men of the city oppoſing ſo unjuſt a ſentence, he was not only acquitted of the fine impoſed upon him, but likewiſe appointed Treaſurer for the following year. Whereupon, pretending to diſapprove of his former conduct, and to alter it for the future, and appearing more compliant, eaſy, and remiſs in examining their accounts and expoſing their frauds, he made himſelf acceptable to ſuch as had robbed the publick; inſomuch that they extolled him to the ſkies, and made intereſt with the people to continue him in his office another year. But on the day of election, as the Athenians were juſt going unanimouſly to pitch upon him again, he rebuked them ſeverely, ſaying: "When I diſcharged my office, and "managed your treaſure with the care and fidelity that "became an honeſt man, I was reviled and treated like "a villain; but now, when I have taken no care of it, "but left it to the diſcretion of theſe publick robbers, I "am an excellent perſon, and an admirable patriot. I "therefore declare to you that I am more aſhamed of the "honour done me to-day than of the ſentence paſſed againſt "me laſt year; and it is with indignation, and concern, "that I ſee it is more meritorious with you to oblige ill "men than faithfully to manage the publick revenue." By ſpeaking thus, and diſcovering their frauds, he ſtopped the mouths of all thoſe robbers of the publick, who were at the very ſame time crying him up and giving ample teſtimony in his behalf, and likewiſe gained the juſt and real applauſe of all good men.
